
2012 Presbyterian Mission Yearbook for Prayer & Study

Connect with brothers and sisters you have never met

“When it is our day in the Mission Yearbook” writes Joey Lee, executive presbyter of San José Presbytery, “we know that brothers and sisters from across the PC(USA) are specifically praying for and thinking about us. It is a powerful reminder that we are all connected as the body of Christ.”

All across America, readers of the Presbyterian Mission Yearbook for Prayer & Study learn about and pray for our denomination’s vital mission work. Every day of the year, the Mission Yearbook lifts up the inspiring work being done in the Lord’s name through our congregations, presbyteries and the GAMC at home and around the world.

That’s why the Presbyterian Mission Yearbook should be a part of your ministry. Its inspiring, easy-to-read stories are sure to instill a love of mission in your members — connect them to the mission work of the wider church — and hearten them to support your own mission efforts and outreach, no matter how modest or ambitious. This wonderful resource may indeed be the “seed that falls on good soil and bears fruit a hundredfold.”
